STRANGE SEA MONSTERS.

The Song Ray and the Sea Lizard are Gone to the ocean.

The sting ray, a member of the shark family, is dangerous to the health of Florida waters. The largest specimens of the kind, weighing from 400 to 500 pounds, live at great depths and are seldom found ashore, but rays from 40 to 400 pounds are often caught near the land, between Tampa Bay and Cape Canaveral, and are sold at $1.00 a pound.

Between the rays there would not be an Italian or English.

The parrots sometimes hold a conversation with Macaw, but never with strangers.—Chicago Times-Herald.

DUET SINGING PARROTS.
They Carry the Air With Ease In Gowl Time and Very Distinctly.

An Italian or the name of Rassoni, who lives in Savannah, has two parrots who sing in duet all the popular songs of the day.

Rassoni raised the birds and began early to teach them to speak in Italian and English. No thought was ever given to their musical education until they began later to develop some ability to sing. Then Rassoni, being a musician of local note, began to teach them short and simple songs. They were apt and learned rapidly. In addition they caught the popular airs that were sung and whistled by street gaminis, who never passed the house without stopping and singing to the parrots.

It was not long before the two birds could carry on air with perfect ease, in time and with distinctness. Finally both began to sing together, and now they sing in duet with the fitness of artists. The birds are indeed female—Henry and Polly. Henry has a voice between a mezzo soprano and alto, while Polly's is a well modulated soprano of pretty high range. Both are stronger than one would imagine and possess volume and sweetness. With all their accomplishments, however, Henry and Polly are like all parrots—they will never sing or talk when you are most anxious to hear them; you must await their pleasure and convenience. But for this perverseness of their nature Rassoni would have already made a fortune with them.

The writer sat in the lobby of the Palazzo House in Savannah and heard the parrots sing the famous piece, "Say An' Revoir, but Not Goodby." Others heard. All endeavored to locate the music. Finally one asked the hotel girls who were the singers. He replied they were parrots and pointed toward the closed glass door of Uncle Jim's cigar shop adjoining the lobby. All gathered about the door in wonderment, but the birds stopped singing. We left the door open and they resumed the same piece and sang it through beautifully and in perfect time and accent. Polly took the high notes with remarkable ease. Then they sang "Suwanee River" and popular ditties of the day. No one was in the store at the time, and Henry and Polly gave a concert that was quite remarkable as it was unique and enjoyable.

Between the songs they would talk in Italian or English.

The parrots sometimes hold a conversation with Macaw, but never with strangers.—Chicago Times-Herald.

THE FUNDING BILL.

The news comes from Washington that it is probable that President Cleveland will discuss the indebtedness of the Pacific railroads in his annual message to Congress and suggest the necessity of legislation to authorize and provide for refunding the debts of those corporations to the Government. In the last fiscal year the Treasury had to redeem about $8,000,000 of railroad bonds which had matured. In the current fiscal year the demand on the cash resources of the Treasury for the same purpose amount to about $9,000,000 and in the next fiscal year, which will end June 30, 1897, about $10,000,000 more of the bonds will mature, and have to be paid by the Government, unless Congress provides in some other way for the payment of the indebtedness or extends the time of payment.

The present Congress at its session last winter took up the question of the indebtedness of the Pacific railroads. Committees to which the bill was referred in the House and Senate jointly agreed upon a bill to refund the indebtedness. For some reason, probably a partisan one, there was no definite action taken on the bill in either House, but it is understood that it will be called up for consideration early in the coming session. The Silver-Democratic party of Nevada pledged its Congressional candidate to vote against the bill and he has emphatically declared that he will do so.

What will be the consequences to Nevada if the Government should take possession of the Central Pacific, which is one of the bond-aided roads? This question should be considered by the people from a business standpoint, as it is beyond the political stage, our Representative being pledged to vote against the present funding bill. If the Central Pacific should become the property of the Government it could not be taxed for any purpose, State, municipal or school. As the total tax of the Central Pacific in this State amounts to about $145,000 annually, what provision can be made for this loss of revenue to the State and the counties through which the road runs? The State is in debt and so are all the counties through which the road runs, except Churchill and Elko. In what manner will the State provide for the loss of revenue if the road becomes the property of the Government? This is a question which should be discussed dispassionately. None of the platforms which favor Government ownership of railroads suggest a method of providing for the loss of revenue which would result. The people under the "gold standard and prosperity" find great difficulty in paying the present rate of taxation, and that rate will have to be materially increased if the road becomes Government property. As there is a probability of such a contingency our people should discuss the question so that the Legislature can provide for it in accordance with their wishes.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

In accordance with the time-honored custom, first introduced by the Jews of Palestine several thousand years ago, Governor Sadler, has by proclamation recommended the good people of Nevada, in grateful acknowledgment of the many blessings bestowed by the Almighty upon them during the year now drawing to its close, to abstain from their usual labors and occupations, and in their homes and accustomed places of worship, on this, the 26th of November, return thanks to our Heavenly Father for the many blessings conferred upon us. In compliance with that proclamation to-day will be observed as a holiday in the State of Nevada. The courts, schools and public institutions generally, as well as private business houses, will be closed that all may have opportunity to observe the day and enjoy themselves.

On occasions of this kind the poor should be remembered, and all who can afford it should see, if there are any such in their vicinity, that they are provided with a good dinner on this day of thanksgiving and praise.

THANKSGIVING ENTERTAINMENTS.

There will be services in several of the churches to-day. Rev. Mr. Unsworth will hold services at the Episcopal Church, and Rev. Mr. Lee will preach at the union services at the Congregational Church.

The afternoon will be mainly devoted to a discussion of turkey and other good things of a secular nature, and in the evening the Firemen will give a grand masquerade ball at the Pavilion and at the opera house the romantic melodrama of Fabio Romani will be presented by a star company.

The Russian Minister of Finance has secured the consent of his colleagues for the introduction of the gold standard. The Czar approves the plan and the Imperial Council will probably adopt it, although the agrarian members are opposed to it. There are people in Nevada, however, who pretend to believe that the remonetization of silver can be secured by international agreement.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The people of San Francisco have caught the airship craze and are very much excited.

John Collins on trial in San Francisco for the murder of Margaret Crowley, was acquitted yesterday by a jury.

Senator O'Bandler says the time for recognizing the independence of Cuba has come, and the time for recognizing the belligerency of the Cubans has gone.

Embassador and Mrs. Bayard have been commanded to visit Windsor Castle to-day and dine with Queen Victoria and will sleep at the Castle tonight.

Heavy rains have done great damage at San Pedro, California. A cloud burst flooded streets and filled cellars with water, damaging property to the extent of $50,000.

It has been decided that Rev. Mr. Miller, who was found dead at Bloomington, Illinois, with a revolver by his side committed suicide. He bought the pistol at Decatur, Illinois.

Secretary Carlisle gives notice that $9,712,000 bonds issued in aid of the Pacific roads under the acts of 1862 and 1895 will become due January 1, 1897, and interest will cease on that day.

Over a foot of snow has fallen at Helena, Montana, tying up street cars and interfering with railroad traffic. The storm is general throughout the Northwest and is very severe. The mercury is from 5 to 30 degrees below zero.

Five hundred employees in warehouses at Bremen, Germany, have struck for three and a half marks a day. The lightermen at Hamburg will demand an increase of wages to-day and if refused will join the strikers who are out on strike.

At the banquet given Bryan at the Chamber of Commerce of Denver yesterday, Congressman Towne of Minnesota said "the leader of 1896 will be the victor of 1900." This sentiment created the wildest enthusiasm, men jumped on chairs and tables, waved handkerchiefs and shouted themselves hoarse.

Captain Donnelly of the schooner Katy Brainard, was thrown into the icy waters of Lake Michigan by the breaking of a rope. A heavy sea carried him close to the rudder where he caught a small chain and hung on for nearly half an hour before his cries for help were heard. He was benumbed with cold when taken board.

The tobacco factory of Newark & Co., New York, a six story building, caught fire yesterday and for a while the lives of 400 persons, mostly women, were in danger, though all eventually escaped without serious injury. The stock of tobacco, valued at $40,000, was ruined by smoke and the building was damaged $10,000.

Two men were killed outright and three others injured by an explosion at the asphaltum works, Fort Duchesne, Utah. The explosion was terrific and was distinctly heard thirty miles away. It was caused by the combustion of gas and asphaltum. The mine caught fire and the shot up in the air over a hundred feet. The entire command at Fort Duchesne was hurried to the scene, but was powerless in rendering assistance, as there is no possible way of extinguishing the fires in the mine.

The engine, baggage and mail cars of the Southern express were thrown from the track on the Pennsylvania road near Brunswick yesterday morning. The engineer and fireman were instantly killed and three other men were injured. The accident was caused by the breaking of an axle on a freight car going in the same direction on another track. The freight swung round and struck the forward end of the passenger train, throwing the engine, baggage and mail cars down an embankment.

Mrs. Swearner, the wife of a rancher in Lewis county, Washington, cut the throats of his three little girls, aged 5 years, 3 years and 9 months, respectively, and then inflicted a severe but not necessarily fatal wound upon herself. The 3-year-old child died almost instantly and the 5-year-old child is not expected to live. When Swearner returned to the house from where he had been at work he found his wife and three children lying in a pool of blood on the floor. The woman had used a butcher knife, the blade having been driven into the throats of her victims. It is supposed that she is insane.

Many Thrilling Sensations. Alden Benedict's Fabio Romani contains many thrilling situations, and displays beautiful scenery, especially in the first and last acts, representing the city of Naples with its magnificent bay. In the last act the same picture is presented with the addition of Mt. Vesuvius in active eruption accompanied by the roar of an earthquake and the crumbling of buildings. It is, indeed, an effective picture. With these auxiliaries and a strong cast, Fabio Romani should prove a money maker for Manager Benedict. This company will appear at the Opera House this evening.

Buckner's Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25cts per box. For sale by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Twentieth Century Club.

At the last meeting of the Twentieth Century Club it was decided to hold the future sessions in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Their rooms are bright, comfortable and centrally located; but the chief reason for the change is to lend a helping hand to the young men in their effort to provide a home substitute for the many young people in Reno, who would otherwise have no place of amusement save the street.

One of the objects of the Twentieth Century Club is to promote the public welfare and the ladies believe that the Y. M. C. A. comes nearer offering good to the whole town than any other organization now in Reno. The next regular meeting will be held in the new quarters on Friday, November 27th, and it is hoped that all members will be present.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constituted condition of the system, which the pleasant effects of exercise and rest promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly, by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note, when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one should be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

A splendid tonic for convalescents and nursing mothers.

Give the Home Boys a Rousing Benefit To-night.

The masquerade ball given by Hose Company No. 6 to-night at the Pavilion will fairly eclipse any similar affair ever given in Reno. Many of the costumes will be original and attractive and a number of groups have been hard at work for weeks with a hope of capturing the prize. Ample accommodations have been arranged for spectators and no effort will be spared by the fire laddies to give every patron an enjoyable evening. After a good Thanksgiving dinner it will be just the place to spend a few jolly hours and have your fill of laughter. Besides this you are helping the boys out and by helping them you are protecting the lives and property of your town. The Pavilion will be comfortably heated, doors will be kept going all of to-day.

There will be prizes for maskers and spectators, the spectators' prize being a handsome enameled clock donated by Mr. Herz.

It is a disgrace for our government to allow a comparatively few people to absorb nearly the entire wealth of the country while the great mass of the people are made bankrupts and paupers. Let us have genuine government paternalism. It is the only just solution of our difficulties.

STATE CAPITAL NOTES.
The Hartley-Foley Case Continued Until After Thanksgiving—Its Consideration To-Day.
CARSON CITY, November 25, 1896.
Reading of testimony and depositions from the Foley murder case occupied nearly all of the attention of the court-to-day. Mrs. Hartley was on the stand a couple of times and gave her evidence in a more composed and pronounced style than she did yesterday. And her juveniles aspirant for a portion of the Foley estate behaved well until one time his nurse attempted to lead him outside the rail when he suddenly noticed his mother wasn't coming along and made a terrible outcry and commotion. He ran back with a feather duster in his hand, weeping loudly, and was not pacified until he climbed to his mother's shoulder with his arms around her neck as she sat on the witness stand.
At the noon recess of an hour and a half, Mrs. Hartley and child and nurse were taken home to State Prison for dinner and back in the prison wagon, and returned there after court adjourned for the day.
In response to cross questioning Mrs. Hartley testified to knowing that Foley was a married man before her trouble with him, and to consulting or seeing an attorney immediately after the tragedy. The document or written statement which she says Foley wrote out in her room in the presence of no one but herself, and which she says she saw him sign, she testified to-day to read as follows:
"I hereby acknowledge that I am the father of the child of which Mrs. Alice M. Hartley is now pregnant.
"M. D. FOLEY."
"Then he wrote the date upon it, I think, and handed it to me to read. I returned it to him and he put it in his pocket, and I have never seen it since. He was with me for an hour after writing it."
This was not satisfactory to her as it did not exonerate her, and she wanted something better, properly witnessed. She admitted saying nothing about it to her attorney until July, 1895, over a year afterward, and could specify no one else to whom she had mentioned it. Yet upon this mythical document this suit is based.
The depositions of all the witnesses agree in no such document or written statement was found among Foley's papers or on deposit anywhere although it was searched for high and low.
All the testimony being in and the attorneys not ready to argue and conclude the case for the jury, court adjourned at 4 p. m. until 10 A. M. Friday.
Old Tim Connally, who was reported dead from pneumonia yesterday afternoon, says he feels much better to-day and will try and fool the undertaker this time.

Diphtheria Cure.
The testimony of a prominent physician:
FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.
This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects. In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.

The Discovery Saved His Life.
M. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail, and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it! Get a free trial bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.
The most feasible way to remedy this evil is to create positions and public works enough so that every professional man and laborer who cannot get a job anywhere else can get one of the government, and the pay should be regulated on the lines laid down by Bellamy.
There are numbers of young men and women, with the improved methods of production, to do all necessary work and all people who have reached the age of 50 years should be retired on a pension and should not be required to work, except for pleasure and recreation.
There is no use to longer disguise the fact that the only correct solution to the monetary and industrial problems is for the government to do the banking and bondholding of the country and to own and operate the railroads, telegraphs and mines. The States and cities should own and operate the utilities necessary to their welfare. By so doing there would be plenty of positions to go round and this wild scramble of twenty people for every position would cease.
We have no doubt but the rejected aspirants for the several federal positions in Nevada will be sorely disappointed. In some cases it may mean partial starvation. Possibly it may ALBAMA.
Mr. Thomas' play "Alabama" is now in the fifth year of its success. Each year the play has made a deeper impression on the people, until it looks as though it had become the standard American drama. Mr. Thomas has not aimed to do much in Alabama except tell a pretty love story, and show the American people that war is a thing of the past and that love is stronger than sectional resentment. He has shown, as his lines indicate, that sectional resentment is eighteen years behind the times. He has caused the shouters of sectionalism on both sides of the Mason & Dixon line to realize that there is a new South and a younger generation; that they are all Americans, and those who do not want to keep up with the procession have got to go to the rear.
Three Musical Organizations.
Male quartet singing is always enjoyed by everyone. When the big quadrille male quartet from Berkeley sings at the Opera House will be shaken. These men have practiced together so often that they simply feel each other's expressions. Mandolin clubs have ever been popular musical organization and this has proved itself to be no exception. Probably more people play the banjo than any other instrument and this is why a banjo club is always looked upon with so much favor. With these three clubs the concert next Friday night ought to satisfy all.

CATCHING A DEER.

A Hunter's Unsuccessful Attempt to Capture a Fawn Alive.

Catching a wild deer by the tail is not to be recommended as a first class way to get venison, but it is a good way for a conscientious man while shooting deer is prohibited by law.

The process of grabbing deer by the tail is full of difficulty, but it is not to be compared in that respect with hanging on after getting a grab on the tail. The deer is wary. The deer is fleet, and its tail is short, but in spite of all difficulty a man who is not 100 feet from me as I write caught a young deer by the tail one day and remained a sort of tail attachment over windfall and slough and stump for a considerable distance.

The man was out in the forest on his big farm looking for wildcats with an especial eagerness on account of the bounty of $5 a cat offered by the authorities. As he was wading up the creek with a pair of old shoes protecting his feet from the rocky bottom he espied a fawn at a lick. While he was looking at the little spotted beauty it lay down beside a log, and the hunter resolved to get the little animal alive. He knew that if he could get hold of one or both of the fawn's hind legs he would succeed.

Luckily the cows of the farm appeared at that moment on the way to the creek for a drink, and the fawn, evidently a frequenter of the pasture, seemed to be unconcerned after a quick glance at the cows.

Seizing the opportunity, the hunter, while the cows were coming and cracking branches and sticks, stole up to the log. A moment later the fawn passed directly in front of him and the hunter made a quick thrust of his arms to catch the deer by the hind legs. He partly succeeded, but in the struggle that followed, with the staring cows and yearlings as spectators, the delicate limbs of the fawn began to slip out of the vise of the human hands, and somehow or other in desperation the man grabbed the fawn's tail.

The little animal began to run, and the hunter, who is a very strong man, held desperately to the tail. Down an old logging road they went a little way, and then the fawn turned in. It could not run very fast with a man attached to its tail, but the first quarter of a mile was done in good time nevertheless.

About the beginning of the second the fawn went over a log and headed for a thicket. In spite of all, the little beauty reached the brush and plunged in. The hunter was scraped off, and he had the pleasure of seeing the fawn join its mother on the other side of the thicket and dart off with her into the depths of the forest. —Milwaukee Sentinel.

The Most Useful Fish.

The cod is the most useful fish in the world. As an article of food, wholesome and substantial, either fresh or salted and dried, it forms a valuable addition to the food resources of the world, and in this and other ways few members of the animal kingdom are more universally serviceable to mankind.

Enormously prolific (one fish producing 9,000,000 eggs) and widely distributed, its usefulness is appreciated almost everywhere. The tongue is considered a delicacy, the swimming bladder furnishes isinglass equal to that got from the sturgeon, while cod liver oil has a worldwide reputation as a medicine and food in pulmonary and other wasting diseases where its highly nutritive properties give it great value. The Norwegians give cod's heads, mixed with marine plants, to their cows to increase the yield of milk.

The Icelanders give the bones to their cattle, and in Kamtschatka the dogs are fed on them, while in the icy wastes, destitute of trees, they are frequently dried and used as fuel.—London Answer.

A Don Quixote Windmill.

A sharp negative was indelibly impressed on the camera of my brain when we caught sight of the windmills of the Campo de Oriente, one of which, it is said, "the Knight of the Rueful Feature" met with in his celebrated adventure. Poor Quixote does not seem so mad after all when one first sees this row of mills set irregularly on the crest of a hill and looking like nothing one has ever seen—more like a collection of queer primitive toys stuck there by the weird caprice of a lunatic. As one approaches and views them one by one these clumsy looking affairs, propped up like very aged persons, are quite fantastic. No wonder the worthy knight took them for giants!—Auguste P. Jaccard in Scribner's.

Hot Temper.

"That Mrs. Nugent has the worst all round bad temper I ever knew."

"Yes, even her hump marks."—Oliveland Plain Dealer.

It is not generally known to farmers that wheat straw is a most valuable feed for stock, containing almost as much nourishment as hay.

The first factory for the manufacture of cotton sewing thread was located at Pawtucket in 1794.
